blog.theironyard.com

that's why we're involved in it.

With UnmatchedStyle and The Iron Yard, the team behind these community-minded organizations are staying busy, yet the work they're doing has helped student after student find not just a new job, but a new career.

To learn more about The Iron Yard, listen to the entire TechnologyAdvice interview above, contact Difeterici at 803-873-9299 or email columbia[at]theironyard.com.

Border around post !

! no border on links

! time of post remove

h1 tag font reduced compared to p tags !

Education Programs Seek Answers: To Scale or Not To Scale?

tiyhouston:

written by Matthew Keas (@matthiasak), Front End Engineering Instructor.

The Iron Yard Partner Eric Dodds (@ericdodds) brought to my attention the growing "openness" of education:

note change in background color of post and surrounding document

We talk a good bit about how education is changing. If you're like me, your thinking probably tends to revolve around code education since that's what we do when we